

Kaasen Training Overview:

Our Kaasen training and certification program consists of two parts:

Part 1: ONLINE TRAINING

- This is a 4-hour, self-paced, online training overview that each person must complete prior to scheduling the live training. The online training will provide you with an understanding of the Kaasen and will allow your trainer to spend more time with you face to face teaching you techniques, protocols, and practicing on live models.

Part 2: LIVE TRAINING

- This is a live training at one of our regional training centers with a Kaasen trainer. The training will be approximately 4 to 8 hours based on how many people will be attending the training and the trainees' comfort level with the techniques and protocols.

You will spend the day at one of our regional training centers learning safety protocols, trouble shooting, techniques, treatment protocols, and working on live models. We recommend that you practice on each other during the training. If this is not possible, the trainer will provide models for you to practice on.

You are REQUIRED to bring your Kaasen with you to training as you will be using your device for your training session. The regional location will provide the CO2. Your trainer will have a follow-up call with you seven to ten days after your training to go over any questions that may have come up after the training.

- You receive complimentary Kaasen training and certification for up to 2 people.
- You may add up to 2 additional people for $250.00 each person.

Training At Your Location:

You can opt to have a trainer come to your location for a one-day onsite training at your location. You are required to have two 20# CO2 tanks with dip tubes per person to be trained onsite at your location prior to your trainer confirming travel arrangements and receiving your cost estimate. You will need to provide models for your training day. Your trainer will go over the necessities, requirements, and time frame for the models needed prior to your training day. Training at your location starts at $2,500.00 and varies based on your requested training dates, travel dates, airfare, accommodations, etc.
